Dear Mr. Herschman:

This is in reply to your letter regarding additional discovery. I have reviewed the documents at our office and have copied those that pertain to the Lawrence Wetherbee School. All such non-privileged communications are enclosed. Also enclosed is a complete copy of the S&R accounting file from Eastern's records. This file also includes the accounting records as relate to the replacement subcontractor and its suppliers.

I have requested that Eastern search its records for any additional documents related to the Lawrence Wetherbee School; however, none have been located at this time. Should any additional documents surface, I will contact you immediately.

If you choose to have these documents numbered and scanned by Warroom, please have Warroom provide this office with a copy of the numbered and scanned documents on disc as was done with the previously scanned documents.

Very truly yours,
